MARION COUNTY MATTERS

Business Being Transacted at the Court House.

On petition of Adeline Orlomat, prior of the Benedictine monastery at Mt. Angel, citation has been issued to John Gublan requiring him to produce in court for probate the last will and testament of Alois Schindler, deceased, which is alleged to be in his possession, on September 15 at 10 a. m.

Ida M. Babcock, administratrix of the estate of F. J. Babcock, deceased, has filed her final account and Judge Terrell named Saturday, September 23, at 10 o'clock a. m. as the time for hearing the same.

Some Sprouting Grain.

James Elgin, of near Rosedale, says that many farmers near Rosedale are setting out their wheat shocks to dry. Oats are badly colored, but not damaged for feed. There is some late grain that is liable to rust if the weather turns off very hot and may do considerable damage.

Mrs. J. W. Lyons and Miss Ethel Simmons returned today from Yonah, where they have been camping in the rain. Mr. Lyons is driving home, and left the Chapmans and Browns in camp.

A Good Invention.

Thos. Reynolds, Jr., is constructing an improved portable drain board to go onto an express truck for handling the fish shipments at this station. The melting ice carries with it the fish slime and as it drips over the trucks and depot platforms it causes the whole premises to have a kind of a slaughterhouse odor. To overcome this Mr. Reynolds has made a solid tray, cut out of fir plank, that drains from each way and carries the malodorous fluids to a central part, where it is discharged through the bottom of the truck into a removable vessel. This can be easily kept clean with a disinfectant. Mr. Reynolds has an invention of great practical value, as it will solve the problem of getting rid of the decaying fish odor.

ASSASSIN CAUGHT

He Is Supposed to Be Crazy.

Has Made a Confession to the Police.

Labori Will Conduct the Dreyfus Case Monday.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

RENNES, Aug. 18.—When the Dreyfus trial was resumed this morning Col. Picquart continued the deposition. Maitre Monard, who argued the case for the revision of the prisoners sentence before the court of cassation was present this morning to assist Demange, for the defence.

At the conclusion of Picquart's deposition Roget and Mercier rose together and asked to be confronted with the witness. The confrontation only lasted a few minutes and did not prove very sensational. Court adjourned until tomorrow. The deposition of Picquart occupied the entire session.

His testimony was followed with closest attention by the members of the court-martial and the audience and during a brief suspension of the court Generals Mercier, Roget, Billot and Boisselle and other witnesses gathered in groups immediately, discussing Picquart's evidence which though it contained few new facts, was so cleverly placed before tribunal and spoken so effectively that it could not fail to repeat the impression made yesterday.

RENNES, Aug. 18.—The supposed assassin of Maitre Labori has been arrested.

He gives his name as Glorot. He has made a confession which is said to be in the hands of the police.

The police think the prisoner is only a lunatic or drunkard, desirous of attracting attention and his so called confession may turn out to be nothing more than an empty boast.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A dispatch to the World from Rennes says: Lieutenant Colonel Lohe, who has been in charge of the mounted gendarmes doing duty about the court martial, died suddenly Thursday.

Anti-Dreyfusites charge the Dreyfusites with being responsible for his death. It is rumored that Colonel Lohe blew out his brains because of the attacks of the newspapers friendly to Labori since the shooting of the latter.

RENNES, Aug. 18.—Maitre Labori was not so well this afternoon. His wound is no worse but he suffers from nervousness.

RENNES, Aug. 18.—It became known yesterday that M. Labori was progressing most satisfactorily.

The wounded lawyer is in excellent spirits, especially after reading an account of today's proceedings, of which a verbatim stenographic report was sent to him immediately after the conclusion of the session.

The doctors intend to leave the bullet where it is unless it induces fever. M. Labori was able to leave his bed for three hours today, and even to walk twice across the room. Tonight, the doctors think he will be able to be present at next Monday's session.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The correspondents of London papers at Rennes are almost unanimous in taking a gloomy view of the prospects of Captain Dreyfus. They seem to believe it likely that he will be found guilty. The representative of the Daily Telegraph said that unless the German government reveals the name of the real traitor it is quite on the cards that the same verdict will be rendered as in the previous court-martial.

HEAD CRUSHED.

Marine Diver Drowned Under 100 Feet of Water.

TACOMA, Aug. 18.—William Baldwin, the famous marine diver, of Seattle, was drowned Thursday afternoon while working on the submerged Andelana, 100 feet under water. It has been contended that divers could not descend deeper than 150 feet. Baldwin said he could reach the Andelana, and made three descents.

On the fourth trip down, the terrific air pressure broke the connecting tubes to his pneumatic suit, and he was drowned. His head was crushed to pieces by the pressure.

Baldwin made his first trip to the bottom of Commencement bay on the afternoon of August 9, and broke all previous records for deep sea diving by going down a little over 33 fathoms. When he was drawn to the surface, after his first descent, his first words, when the helmet was removed from his suit were: "I knew I could reach the ship and I did."

When he went down again this afternoon his assistants and a few spectators who were on the barge, which is moored near where the Andelana is lying, jokingly said goodbye, as they had always done before, and one of the men at the air pump added: "we'll all attend your funeral." Little did they think that that would be the last time Baldwin would be seen alive.

Heretofore the record for the deepest dive made under water was held by Gunner's Mate Morgan, of the United States Cruiser Charleston, who went below the surface of the water a distance of 190 feet. When the record was made, it was considered phenomenal and many thought the feat impossible.

CHALLENGER ARRIVED

Making Extraordinary Quick Time Crossing the Atlantic.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The yacht Shamrock, challenger for America's cup, reached port today accompanied by the steam yacht Erin. The Shamrock sailed from Fairlie Aug. 3, and made the trans-Atlantic voyage in much quicker time than was anticipated. The Erin towed the Shamrock about 2,000 miles and the latter sailed something more than 1200 miles.

Puglist Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Jim Frainey, the puglist injured by Frank McConnell in their fight Wednesday night, died here this afternoon at 3:15 without having regained consciousness.

McConnell and his seconds, with Frainey's seconds and managers of the club, have been placed under arrest; also Referee Hiram Cook. (James Frainey was formerly a resident of Portland, where he worked at the plumber's trade.)

SASKATCHEWAN FLOODED.

River Rose Forty Feet Yesterday.—Steamer Wrecked.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 18.—A Winnipeg, Man., special to the Pioneer-Press says: An Edmonton dispatch says the Saskatchewan river has overflowed, rising 40 feet during the last 30 hours, and continues to rise fast. Already the bridge piers are four feet under water, and electric-light boilers covered. Floating islands of wood are passing down. The ferries have broken away and no mail has arrived. Thousand of feet of lumber is adrift. At present the water is rushing over the Hudson's Bay Company's flats. Two and a half inches of rain fell in 20 hours. The end is not yet. The loss will be great. The historic steamer Northwest, of the Hudson's Bay Company, has just broken from her moorings, struck the middle pier of the bridge and gone down the river a total wreck. The river is full of drift, miners' shacks and effects. Citizens on the river bank are moving out.

THE HOP GROWERS

Are Somewhat Alarmed Over Prevalence of Moist Weather.

Predictions of Losses if Rain Continues—Crop May Be Cut Short.

The rain of the present week has somewhat alarmed the hop growers and unless the weather improves and a spell of hot weather takes place, there is no question but great harm will be done to the coming crop, but should the weather now become fair and remain so the rain cannot but be of great benefit to the developing hop crop. The hop louse has not done any damage, as yet, but if muggy warm weather sets in now with an occasional rain, mildew and lice will be abundant and the crop prospect will be entirely different.

The continuous wet weather will have the bad effect of a very badly bleached hop and the quality of color will not aid in a good price and the buyers will be more at sea as to price, than if the hops were lousy.

A prominent hop man said:

"This condition placed many buyers in a quandary. Some of them have bought crops in advance, paying a fair price for them. Now they are trying to figure how to hedge on the situation. Some argue that the lice will mean high prices, while others say that the other bad effects of the weather will make the quality poor, which means lower prices."

"Most buyers who have placed advanced orders with the growers are now hoping for a standstill, and fearing that it will stand off the wrong way. As for the growers he knows that every day this rain continues he is growing poorer, for higher prices cannot make up for a short crop and if the quality is poor, he is in a worse fix still."

"Unless the rain lets up in a day or two, and good, warm sunshine comes the hop growers of the valley will do little rejoicing at hop-picking time this year."

G. Muecke, of Aurora, who is both a grower and a buyer of hops, is in the city today. He gives it as his opinion that there would not have been more than an average hop crop in the valley this year had the weather been good. What the effects of the rain will be on the crop, he is not prepared to say.

"It will take a few days of sunshine to determine that," said he. "There are lice in every yard and this is the sort of weather that puts them to work. It is also the sort of weather that causes bleaching, and if it continues much longer, the damage may be very great."

"I think 75,000 bales will cover the Oregon crop this year. Some say 80,000 but I cannot see it. The crop reached 70,000 bales last year, and I doubt if it is much heavier this year. In many yards it is not as heavy, but around Brooks, I understand, it is heavier. Looking over the entire field, I doubt if we will go more than 500 bales higher than we did last year, even with a favorable change in weather."

A Gervais correspondent says:

"The hop crop appears to be in no danger from the recent heavy rain. A trip through the Hubbard, Butteville, Aurora and Clackamas districts corroborates this. There is some liability of an unnatural growth, but this will be escaped if the weather changes."

"In the Butteville and Aurora district the hop bur is already large. It has a rich color, quite in contrast with that of other sections, where the crop is green. While the hop is yet in a green state many say that the present healthy, desirable color indicates an exceptionally high quality. There is an abundance of lupin forming in the hop. There is no prospect of any more growth of the crop."

"The growth that will result from the effect of the recent rains will of necessity go to the fast maturing burr, and additional weight is sure to insure to the coming hop crop. This being the case, there will undoubtedly be more pounds of hops saved, providing there is no more stormy weather than has heretofore been reported. However, this is problematical. The main fact of interest is that the hop crop is safe, and not in any danger from the elements."

"There do not seem to be many hop lice. There has been an absence of aphids this year consequently few lice. This has been developed by a trip through the sections above noted. No large increase in yield is noted. Almost all growers interviewed say they do not expect any more hops this year than they had last season."

"There is a general absence of those unhealthy, green-looking leaves, so suggestive of lice and mold, showing that the hop vines are in a very healthy condition and bound to produce a rich, yellow product. In the event of more rain an unhealthy supplemental growth may come and turn the present rich color to green, which is not desirable for foreign shipment, and for which a lesser price will unquestionably be paid."

A prominent Salem hop grower and buyer said today that the late rains have not hurt hops any and that it would have been worth thousands of dollars to the Oregon crop had it come two weeks sooner. Of course this weather if it were to continue any great length of time it would be injurious, but if good weather continues we will have one of the finest hop crops, as to quality, we have ever had in Oregon. There is no danger of hops bleaching yet, as there are none now to be damaged, they only having started to grow. This bleaching talk is all bosh."

THREE ATTEMPTS.

Made to Assassinate Dr. Wells at Meriden, Miss.

MERIDEN, Miss., Aug. 18.—A week ago Dr. Wells shot and fatally wounded a Negro while in the act of stealing cattle. Tuesday night two negroes attempted to assassinate Wells, and one of them was shot and killed by the doctor.

Another unsuccessful attempt was made on the doctor's life last night. This has aroused the white people and notice has been served on the negroes that any further hostile movements towards Doctor Wells will precipitate a race conflict.
